RUSSIANS TAKE ERZERUM, THE KEY TO ASIA MINOR ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND TURKS PRISONERS OF CZAR

Interest in War Operations Shifts to the Bloody Land ot Armenia.

Successes of the Grand Duke Nicholas Seem to Bel Extensive and Promise Relief to the Sorely Pressed British in Mesopotamia.

Whole Turk Force in Asia Minor Is Regarded, By Experts, as in Jeop. ardy.

Associated Press.

London, February 17 .- With the capture of Erzerum by the Russians, interest in war operations has shifted to the fields of warfare in Armenia, Persia and Mesopotamia, where the campaigns are expected to be notably influenced in their course by the fall of the Turkish

The current Turkish official statement does not record the capture of the fortress. The only mention of the operations in this war area is the declaration that the Russians, in the ighting of the last three days, lost 5,000 dead and 60 prison-

Unofficial advices from Petrograd say that the Turkish army s fleeing westward from Erzerum through a difficult mount-

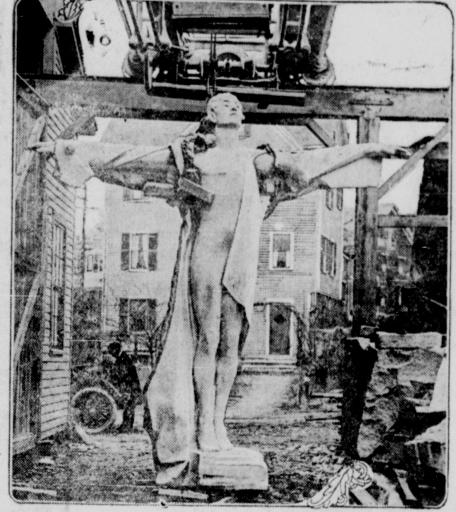

Military observers in the alded capitals regard Erzerum as the key to Asia Minor. They expect the Russian success to facilitate the capture of Trebiand on the Black Sea coast, giving possession to the Turkish gateway from Asia into Eu-

The Turkish forces through-Out Armenia will be put in copardy, it is said, and the Messure on the British in Mespotamia will be relieved.

According to the official account, the British Mesopotamia forces have been heavy suferers in the recent fighting. The British losses in the bate at Batiha aggregated 2,000 it is stated.

Fighting on the western front s lessened in intensity, probbecause of the prevailing weather, and similar condons prevail in Russia.

TITANIC MEMORIAL NEARLY READY

Lansing Asks Bernstorff for Assurance That Germany Will Not Sink Liners.

Statements That Germany Cannot and Will Not Accept the Latest Suggestion Gives Ugly Look to Aftair.

By Associated Press.

Washington, February 17. Secretary Lansing today accepted the Lusitania agreement as acceptable to the United States, in so far as it relates to that case, but asked Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, for assurances that Germany will not carry its policy of sinking merchant ships without warning to liners, even if they carry defensive

The question of what constitutes defensive armament is to be determined later, in a way not yet agreed

It is suggested that the United States may propose that guns mounted on the stern of ships, and capable of being swung from fifteen to thirty degrees in either direction, might come within that class.

The Purpose

Today rating blanks were placed in the hands of every member of The Fayette Credit Bureau for the purpose of taking another credit rating. Every business firm and professional man who is a member of of The Fayette Credit Bureau, excepting banks, is required to make a credit report on their customers. This rating now being taken furnishes the present and future basis for the granting of credit.

The Basis of High Credit

Naturally, persons whose record shows them to be prompt in the settlement of their accounts will be given high ratings. And just here it is explained that credit ratings are always based upon promptness in the payment of accounts and not upon the worth of the debtor or the property he possesses.

The Unfortunate

In taking this rating proper consideration will be given those whose accounts are unpaid because of misfortune of any kind.

The Willful and Careless

All persons who have carelessly or wilfully failed to pay just accounts will be rated accordingly.

Your Patronage Invited

Washington business and professional men have always been very liberal in the granting of credits and invite the patronage, on regular credit terms, of any person whose record shows him to be trustworthy and prompt in the payment of his accounts.

Accommodation Offered

No reasonable, business-like accommodation will be refused such persons and the records of The Fayette Credit Bureau enable its members to extend the fullest possible credit facilities to their customers.

Confidence Abused—Money Lost

The liberality of Washington business and professional men in the granting of credits resulted formerly in many abuses of their confidence and the loss of thousands of dollars annually through uncollectable accounts.

Benefits Customers. Too

In order to eliminate this evil and also to provide a plan to handle to the best advantage the business of all deserving patrons is the reason why so many Washington business and professional men have as sociated themselves together through the medium of The Fayette Credit Bureau.

Protection Employed

The firms and men whose names appear here recognize their own absolute right to protect themselves against those who defraud either purposely or negligently. Also, they thereby protect their credit-deserving patrons against the undeserving.

Digging For Facts

In order to get the exact facts about every person this additional general credit rating is being taken now before a final "clean-up" campaign is begun.

Being Entirely Fair

Recognizing the fact that a number of persons have thoughtlessly overlooked accounts which are past due, and in order to be fair to them, a few days will be granted before the ratings now being taken are called in.

Still More Time Granted

It has been agreed to allow these folks until March 1st, 1916, for settlement of their accounts.

The Last Day is March 1st

But these ratings will positively be called in on March 2, and under no circumstances will the time be extended.

Get This

Every person makes his or her own credit rating by the promptness with which his or her accounts are paid. The merchant merely reports the facts.

The Convenient Charge Account

Herewith is a complete list of Fayette Credit Bureau members. It is a privilege as well as a convenience to have charge accounts with them. A good credit record and prompt settlements are all they require of you.

What About It?

The Community Efficiency Institute has come to an end after a little more than one week of strenuous endeavor by the folks who came here to talk with us about better conditions and to offer suggestions as to how to make more of the opportunities we have.

The work was enjoyable and instructive in every particular. It was high class. Every one who heard the lecturers learned something to his advantage. Whether that ad-Vantage is a negligible one consisting only of the knowledge equired or whether it becomes an active advantage depends now, entirely, upon the people.

The Institute workers are through, the lesson has been anght and well taught. It's up to the people to use that mowledge or to allow it to remain dormant and valueless.

They have furnished the material and it's up to the community to build the house.

Many men of importance—leaders in the life of the city killed by a falling tree. He leaves a and county-have taken up with the spirit of the movement widow and five children. and promise to do things.

Everyone can not be a leader in the work, but everyone can be a helper and one of the simple truths to which Dr. Shepherd and Dr. Nichols called attention was the great work of the helper and the modest citizen.

The matter has now reached the place when we may ask each other "What are you going to do about it?"

the President's Candidacy

As a result of the decision the city is apparently no nearer contracting for street lights than more than a year ago. Meanwhile the original contract for lights has lapsed nearly one year.

The suit in question attacked the legality of the proceedings of council and asked that a perpetual injunction be granted to prevent the city from entering into such a contract as the call for bids required.

The decision of Judge Newby is based upon the $1200 clause which H. Whitford Jones caused to be inserted in the requirements for bids, and the decision is in the shape of another staggering blow to the Cleveland engineer who has already drawn $600 from the city and who apparently had arranged to obtain all or a part of the additional $1200 provided for as part of the requirements to the contract.

The blaze swept along so quickly that three good sized freight steamers were gutted and three lighters and a dozen barges loaded with oil were burned. A considerable quantity of various kinds of war supplies, most of them destined for Russia, was destroyed. The loss is estimated at about $1,000,000.

The three steamships damaged were the Bolton Castle, the Pacific and the Bellagio The Bellagio escaped with the least damage. She was towed into the stream before the fire had gained headway and the fire boats extinguished the flames on her.

Ohio Democratic Leaders Take Precautionary Step.

Columbus, Feb. 17 .- Former Governor James E. Campbell filed with Secretary of State Hildebrant his "dummy" candidacy for the presidential nomination so Ohio Democrats may declare for him as their second choice. President Wilson, who is to be first choice, earlier in the day filed consent to the use of his name as presidential candidate.

Secretary Hildebrant had ruled that when a political party has only one choice for president, candidates for delegates to the national convention need not name a second choice because "the law certainly does not contemplate or require an impossibility."

Democrats declared their action is taken to guard against such a contingency as a second presidential aspirant filing his candidacy after candidates for delegates already have filed their declarations of candidacy with only one presidential choice. Chairman Finley explains that Campbell is chosen for second choice because he is Ohio's oldest living Democratic ex-

London, Feb. 17.-The government is about to commandeer all distilleries in the United Kingdom with as little delay as possible. This step is rendered necessary, it is said, owing to the constantly growing demand for alcohol in connection with the making of high explosives. It is explained that the government, after acquiring the amount of alcohol needed for munitions, will hand over the remainder to the trade.

Select Delegates-at-Large and Adopt Platform.

New York, Feb. 17.—Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Governor C. S. Whitman, State Chairman Frederick C. Tanner and State Senator Elton R. Brown were selected by the New York Republican convention as delegatesat-large to the Chicago convention. Senator Wadsworth is entirely friendly to Barnes. Mr. Brown, senate leader, is distinctly a Barnes man. State Chairman Tanner, while playing a close game and striving for peace, is for Mr. Root for president. It required seven ballots to pick the big four.

An attempt to force through the committee on resolutions a declaration for Senator Root for the Republican nomination failed

New York state will send an uninstructed delegation to the national convention if the action of the convention is upheld by the voters at the primary election in April.

The platform adopted is interpreted here as outlining the issues on which the Republican national campaign will be fought. These include demands for adequate military preparedness and tariff reform, opposition to granting early independence to the Philippines and insistence on a vigorous stand for American rights both in Mexico and in relation to the Euro-

A Story of Mountain Railroad Life

AUTHOR OF "WHISPERING SMITH," "THE MOUNTAIN DIVIDE," "STRATEGY OF GREAT RAILROADS," ETC.

SYNOPSIS.

Little Helen Holmes, daughter of Gen-tral Holmes, railroad man, is rescued from imminent danger on a scenic railby George Storm, a newsboy, Grown oung womanhood Helen makes a spec-

CHAPTER II. (Continued from Yesterday's Her-

She gave her orders right and left for caring for her father, calling the police and for making the pursuit. The boarding of the moving pasenger train by the two men had not escaped Storm's eyes, and a few words with Helen were enough to clear hings. The flyer was gone and the burglars with it, but there was a with Storm down the hill, Helen told him the whole story. When the two eached the siding Storm asked the conductor to put out a flagman to proect the freight; he half lifted and half pushed Helen up into the cab. and the instant the fireman cut off he engine, started in pursuit of the fast-receding passenger train. But the stern chase is the long chase. The freight engineer had set himself a difficult task; one thing NOVELIZED FROM THE MOV-ING PICTURE PLAY OF THE SAME NAME. PRODUCED BY

alone was in his favor, everything else was against him. He was running a light engine against one pulling a strong string of sleeping cars. But his own machine was built for traction, not for speed, and he was pitting it against one of the fastest types of engines on the division. From the time Storm opened the throttle not a device was left untried to make his ponderous engine go fast; not a trick of all those that had already made his reputation as an exceptional runner was now overlooked and every resource of the engineer's art was brought into play to overhaul the flying passenger train.

Helen crouched on the fireman's box with her eyes straining ahead into the darkness, or glancing across the hooded lights of the cab at the profile of the silent engineer, waited in vain for him to look toward her. It seemed as if he had forgotten her chance yet to get them. Hastening existence. His attention, for the moment, was centered on nothing but the terrific headway he had attained and must maintain to win, and his reeling, thundering machine seemed awake to the relentless energy of its driver, was responding like a thing alive to his iron will. A cry from Storm made her look across toward him. She saw his eyes regarding her, but he was pointing silently chead, and looking again through her own window, Helen's straining vision caught far ahead the faint gleam of the red tail-lights.

Ohio

From the top of the distant sleeping cars Spike and Hyde had seen the threatening chase. Without a qualm, and crawling along the swaying cars, they made their way toward the engine. They held up the engineer and fireman. Spike understood enough of an engine to take the throttle and he tried to run away from Storm; but this proved a game in which he had no advantage. Striving desperately to increase his speed he found himself, as he glanced back from the cab window, steadily losing ground. The race was now more like the effort of a plow horse to run away from a thoroughbred. A last resort remained for the criminals. Hyde, at Spike's direction, climbed back over the tender and cut off the coaches. The engine pulled away from the train. The air went on and the string of sleepers stopped abruptly. Close behind them the freight engine was pounding and lurching. Storm had barely time to apply his air and pull up as he stopped and he was nearly into the hind-end of the observation

When the passenger crew got outside there were hurried explanations. Storm, knowing every foot of the line, saw that they had reached the longest passing track on the division and that by running around the stalled train he still had a chance to overtake his quarry. Throwing his engine into reverse he backed down, took the passing-track switch and tore past the standing cars after the fast disappearing passenger train. With all of its lights extinguished, and still maintaining terrific speed, it was at a hopeless disadvantage against the skill of the man at the throttle of the engine be-

Overhauled and with defeat in sight as the nose of the huge freight engine crowded them, Hyde from the gangway and Spike, turning from the useless throttle, opened fire with their pistols on their pursuers. Hyde, firing his last shot without effect, in his rage, hurled his heavy gun back at the other cab. It crashed through the window where Helen had sat an instant before, but she was now up and back over the engine tank. As Storm drew steadily abreast of the runaway, she watched her chance and with reckless daring sprang from where she stood over to the tank of the passenger engine. The safe-blowers turned to meet her. Stack and stack the engines were rushing toward the little San Pablo bridge. But with Spike's and Hyde's attention turned from the passive engineer and fireman in the cab, they were suddenly attacked by both from behind. A furious mixup followed. Hyde, her peril. In Ciayton Hamilton's "On the Trail of Stevenson" is this quaint passage between the boy and his nurse. Alison Cunningham:

"When little Louis was about five years old he did something naughty, and 'Cummy' stood him up in a corner and rold him he would have to stay there for ten minutes; then she left the room. At the end of the allotted period she returned and said, 'Time's up. Master Lou; you may come out now.' But the little boy stood motionless in his penitential corner. 'That's enough; time's up,' repeated Cummy. And then the child mystically raised his hand. and, with a strange light in his eyes. 'Hush,' he said, 'I'm telling myself a

The Purpose

Today rating blanks were placed in the hands of every member of The Fayette Credit Bureau for the purpose of taking another credit rating. Every business firm and professional man who is a member of of The Fayette Credit Bureau, excepting banks, is required to make a credit report on their customers. This rating now being taken furnishes the present and future basis for the granting of credit.

The Basis of High Credit

Naturally, persons whose record shows them to be prompt in the settlement of their accounts will be given high ratings. And just here it is explained that credit ratings are always based upon promptness in the payment of accounts and not upon the worth of the debtor or the property he possesses.

The Unfortunate

In taking this rating proper consideration will be given those whose accounts are unpaid because of misfortune of any kind.

The Willful and Careless

All persons who have carelessly or wilfully failed to pay just accounts will be rated accordingly.

Your Patronage Invited

Washington business and professional men have always been very liberal in the granting of credits and invite the patronage, on regular credit terms, of any person whose record shows him to be trustworthy and prompt in the payment of his accounts.

Accommodation Offered

No reasonable, business-like accommodation will be refused such persons and the records of The Fayette Credit Bureau enable its members to extend the fullest possible credit facilities to their customers.

Confidence Abused—Money Lost

The liberality of Washington business and professional men in the granting of credits resulted formerly in many abuses of their confidence and the loss of thousands of dollars annually through uncollectable accounts.

Benefits Customers. Too

In order to eliminate this evil and also to provide a plan to handle to the best advantage the business of all deserving patrons is the reason why so many Washington business and professional men have as sociated themselves together through the medium of The Fayette Credit Bureau.

Protection Employed

The firms and men whose names appear here recognize their own absolute right to protect themselves against those who defraud either purposely or negligently. Also, they thereby protect their credit-deserving patrons against the undeserving.

Digging For Facts

In order to get the exact facts about every person this additional general credit rating is being taken now before a final "clean-up" campaign is begun.

Being Entirely Fair

Recognizing the fact that a number of persons have thoughtlessly overlooked accounts which are past due, and in order to be fair to them, a few days will be granted before the ratings now being taken are called in.

Still More Time Granted

It has been agreed to allow these folks until March 1st, 1916, for settlement of their accounts.

The Last Day is March 1st

But these ratings will positively be called in on March 2, and under no circumstances will the time be extended.

Get This

Every person makes his or her own credit rating by the promptness with which his or her accounts are paid. The merchant merely reports the facts.

The Convenient Charge Account

Herewith is a complete list of Fayette Credit Bureau members. It is a privilege as well as a convenience to have charge accounts with them. A good credit record and prompt settlements are all they require of you.

What About It?

The Community Efficiency Institute has come to an end fter a little more than one week of strenuous endeavor by e folks who came here to talk with us about better condions and to offer suggestions as to how to make more of the opportunities we have.

The work was enjoyable and instructive in every parcular. It was high class. Every one who heard the lecturers learned something to his advantage. Whether that ad-Pantage is a negligible one consisting only of the knowledge equired or whether it becomes an active advantage depends low, entirely, upon the people.

The Institute workers are through, the lesson has been anght and well taught. It's up to the people to use that mowledge or to allow it to remain dormant and valueless.

They have furnished the material and it's up to the comunity to build the house.

Many men of importance—leaders in the life of the city and county-have taken up with the spirit of the movement and promise to do things.

Everyone can not be a leader in the work, but everyone an be a helper and one of the simple truths to which Dr. hepherd and Dr. Nichols called attention was the great work

As a result of the decision the city is apparently no nearer contracting for street lights than more than a year ago. Meanwhile the original contract for lights has lapsed nearly one year.

The suit in question attacked the legality of the proceedings of council and asked that a perpetual injanction be granted to prevent the city from entering into such a contract as the call for bids required.

The decision of Judge Newby is based upon the $1200 clause which H. Whitford Jones caused to be inserted in the requirements for bids, and the decision is in the shape of another staggering blow to the UL Cleveland engineer who has already drawn $600 from the city and who apparently had arranged to obtain all or a part of the additional $1200 provided for as part of the requirements to the contract.

New Orleans, Feb. 17 .- Thrilling tales of escape from a German subma rine after a hard chase of more than two and a half hours, with occasional shells falling on deck, exploding and driving broken pieces of metal into the bodies of the crew, were told by officers and men of the Baron Napier, a British tramp steamer of Ardrossan, Scotland. The attack occurred in mid Baron Napier, without a cargo, was four days out from Alexandria, Egypt, bound for New Orleans for a cargo of mules. # Ohio Democratic Leaders Take Precautionary Step.

Columbus, Feb. 17 .- Former Governor James E. Campbell filed with Secretary of State Hildebrant his "dummy" candidacy for the presidential nomination so Ohio Democrats may declare for him as their second choice. President Wilson, who is to be first choice, earlier in the day filed consent to the use of his name as presidential candidate.

Secretary Hildebrant had ruled that when a political party has only one choice for president, candidates for delegates to the national convention need not name a second choice because "the law certainly does not contemplate or require an impossibility.'

Democrats declared their action is taken to guard against such a contingency as a second presidential aspirant filing his candidacy after candidates for delegates already have filed their declarations of candidacy with only one presidential choice. # Select Delegates-at-Large and Adopt Platform.

New York, Feb. 17.-Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Governor C. S. Whitman, State Chairman Frederick C. Tanner and State Senator Elton R. Brown were selected by the New York Republican convention as delegatesat-large to the Chicago convention. Senator Wadsworth is entirely friendly to Barnes. Mr. Brown, senate leader, is distinctly a Barnes man. State Chairman Tanner, while playing a close game and striving for peace, is for Mr. Root for president. It requir ed seven ballots to pick the big four. An attempt to force through the committee on resolutions a declaration for Senator Root for the Republican nomination failed.

New York state will send an uninstructed delegation to the national convention if the action of the convention is upheld by the voters at the primary election in April.

The platform adopted is interpreted here as outlining the issues on which the Republican national campaign will be fought. These include den'ands for adequate military preparedness and tariff reform, opposition to granting early independence to the Philippines and insistence on a vigorous stand for American rights both in Mexico and in relation to the Euro-from imminent danger on a scenic rail-road, by George Storm, a newsboy. Grown to young womanhood Helen makes a spec-facular double rescue of Storm, now a freight fireman, and of her father and his friends, Amos Rhinelander, financier, and Robert Seagrue, promoter, from a threat-ened collision between a passenger train and a runaway freight. and a runaway freight.

When the two eached the siding Storm asked the conductor to put out a flagman to protect the freight; he half lifted and half pushed Helen up into the cab, and the instant the fireman cut off the engine, started in pursuit of the

fast-receding passenger train. But the stern chase is the long chase. The freight engineer had set himself a difficult task; one thing NOVELIZED FROM THE MOV-ING PICTURE PLAY OF THE SAME NAME. PRODUCED BY THE SIGNAL FILM CORPORA-

But his own machine was built for traction, not for speed, and he was pitting it against one of the fastest types of engines on the division. From the time Storm opened the throttle not a device was left untried to make his ponderous engine go fast; not a trick of all those that had already made his reputation as an exceptional runner was now overlooked and every resource of the engineer's art was She gave her orders right and left brought into play to overhaul the fly-

Hastening existence. His attention, for the mowith Storm down the hill, Helen told ment, was centered on nothing but the terrific headway he had attained and must maintain to win, and his reeling, thundering machine seemed awake to the relentless energy of its driver, was responding like a thing alive to his iron will. A cry from Storm made her look across toward rage, hurled his heavy gun back at the him. She saw his eyes regarding her, but he was pointing silently chead, and looking again through her own caught far ahead the faint gleam of the red tail-lights. From the top of the distant sleeping cars Spike and Hyde had seen the threatening chase. Without a qualm, and crawling along the swaying cars, they made their way toward the engine. They held up the engineer and fireman. Spike understood enough of an engine to take the throttle and he tried to run away from Storm; but this proved a game in which he had no advantage. Striving desperately to increase his speed he found himself, as he glanced back from the cab window, steadily losing ground. The race was now more like the effort of a plow horse to run away from a thoroughbred. A last resort remained for the criminals. Hyde, at Spike's direction, climbed back over the tender and cut off the coaches. The engine pulled away from the train. The air went on and the string of sleepers stopped abruptly. Close up as he stopped and he was nearly into the hind-end of the observation

When the passenger crew got outside there were hurried explanations. Storm, knowing every foot of the line, saw that they had reached the longest passing track on the division and that by running around the stalled train he still had a chance to overtake his quarry. Throwing his engine into reverse he backed down, took the passing-track switch and tore past the standing cars after the fast disappearing passenger train. With all of its lights extinguished, and still maintaining terrific speed, it was at a hopeless disadvantage against the skill of the

Overhauled and with defeat in sight as the nose of the huge freight engine crowded them, Hyde from the gangway and Spike, turning from the useless throttle, opened fire with their pistols on their pursuers. Hyde, firing his last shot without effect, in his other cab. It crashed through the window where Helen had sat an instant before, but she was now up and back window, Helen's straining vision over the engine tank. As Storm drew steadily abreast of the runaway, she watched her chance and with reckless daring sprang from where she stood over to the tank of the passenger engine. The safe-blowers turned to meet her. Stack and stack the engines were rushing toward the little San Pablo bridge. But with Spike's and Hyde's attention turned from the passive engineer and fireman in the cab, they were suddenly attacked by both from behead; it flew true and the thug sank ture house. under the heavy blow like a bullock. Frank Jefferson in divorce court told a harrowing story of the manner in which his wife had frequently forced him to "come across" with money by the simple expedient of taking his false teeth and hiding them.

The odd thing, to Jefferson's way of thinking, was that even when he waxed angry his wife would refuse to return his teeth. Only Uncle Sam's coin of the realm would persuade her that her husband's molars -were essential and necessary to his daily existence.

Mrs. Jefferson's side of the case was terse and to the point-her husband had refused ber the money she believed she was entitled to as lady of the house Consequently she took these measures to get it.

Tavern Herses. The Marquis of Granby bears a title that swings from many a tavern signhas some half a dozen. Yet this popuar soldier, who commanded England's troops in Germany during the Seven Years' war, was the target of some of 'Junius' " most bitter invective. The secret of his popularity lay in the fact that Granby was always a soldier's general who not only led them well in the fight, but also cared for their comfort in the camp. The first inn to bear the marquis' head as a sign is said to have been opened by one of his own guard'smen at Hounslow. Apart from Wellington and Nelson, the marquis comes easily first among England's tavera heroes - London Chronicle.
